

What can one say, if the locals think they are really accomplishing much more than supporting their legal departments I think they are wasting money. I am not going to listen to local or not because of local weather and traffic. If local wants my ear they will put on programming worth listening to. It seems to be so much easier to complain and whine than it is to actually work for something. I am not sure of what any regulation says, but it seems most of the problems seem to occur with network broadcast bypassing local feeds. This is not really a network feed issue is it?
